COUNTRY: Madrid Protocol – China, EU, Japan, South Korea, Russian Federation, Singapore, USA and Vietnam

* The Madrid Applications are based on the Australian applications (the Basic Applications). The Basic Application Number (BAN) is the same as the Australian application number used by IP Australia (IPA) and noted in the table above. Once filed with IPA's international desk, the applications are checked and then sent to the International Bureau (IB) who assesses them to ensure they meet IB requirements. Once accepted, the IB will issue a separate international filing number (IFN) for each of the applications. After acceptance by the IB the applications move into the national phase for review by each country designated in the Madrid Application. Each country will then issue its own unique national application number.
